CALAMITY FOR U.S. IF MAYOR WINS'—TEDDY

Urges Illinoisans to Pick 100 Per Cent American.

BY E. O. PHILLIPS.
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—[Special.] Col. Theodore Roosevelt took a smashing wallop at the senatorial aspirations of Mayor Thompson tonight. He branded the mayor as a candidate whose victory "would give satisfaction to Germany and to the pro-German element here."

He sounded the call to patriotic citizens of Illinois to rally "behind some candidate of the 100 per cent type" so that a mixed minority may not score a triumph which would be hailed with joy and misinterpreted to the detriment of America by disloyal people here and our enemies abroad."

Congressman McCormick and Congressman Foss, who were on the ground through their campaign managers issued statements immediately thereafter. Each manager declared his candidate fitted the description that Roosevelt had suggested.

Party Leaders Confer.

The McCormick statement, coming from Senator Buck, his campaign manager, offered concrete facts to back up the contention that McCormick can be elected and that he has the only real force that is opposing him.

The Foss statement, coming from Benjamin H. Miller, his manager, referred particularly to the odds and qualifications of Mr. Foss.

The representative party leaders from every section of the state are in earnest and highly significant conference tonight. It is a safe assertion based on what is being said and done that 100 per cent of them are already agreed that McCormick is the candidate upon whom the anti-Thompson vote must be centralized.

This sentiment may develop into a formal declaration by a Republican of conspicuous prominence who would be able to speak for Illinois Republicans is reasonably possible.

Letters from "Back Home."

Mr. Roosevelt is well equipped for his new task. In addition to his sympathy with the young soldiers, Mr. Roosevelt has invaluable material in the shape of many letters for the soldiers written by governors and senators in all parts of the union. Here are only short extracts from a few of the many long letters by the governors.

BURNQUIST of Kansas: "Your years of war shall not be years of waste in your lives. Your places are ready for you when you return. Your loved ones are cared for while you are away."

BURNQUIST of Minnesota: "The folks at home are working, saving, giving, and going the limit to back you up."

Wishes for Father Would.

PHILLIP of Wisconsin: "All is well at home. We have bumper crops, enough to feed all our own people and a big surplus to spare. We miss you very much. We shall welcome the great day when your work is completed and you return to Wisconsin in triumph."

HENDERSON of Alabama: "He forgot that he is a governor and writes like a father or mother. Think the same as when you left except for the absence of yourselves, who are so dear to us. But there are no complainers. Both in the homes and kitchens here at home is the same spirit of loyalty and determination that you show in France."

MILLIKEN of Maine: "We are doing everything we can for the welfare and comfort of your families while you are away."

WORD to Illinois Men.

LOWDEN of Illinois: "No Illinois man will lose his life in vain by the war."

NORBECK of South Dakota: "Your state sends you greetings. I enclose copies of the special laws which South Dakota has enacted to protect your interests while you are away."

TOWNSEND of Delaware: "Whisper to them of our prayers for you when and only when their great cause is furnished in full in Wilson's War Plan."

FAZIER of North Dakota: "We are solidly behind you, not only during the war, but after you return to your pursuits of peace."

Faizier Lowden's Americanism.

You and Gov. Lowden discussed the presidency or the vice presidential nomination.

Col. Roosevelt was asked:

"The governor and I have not discussed the personal candidacies of any man, nor any question whatever of purely personal or party politics," the former president replied. "The time is too critical for us to deal with any questions of vital moment except questions of vital moment to the whole people. I have been greatly impressed by the admirable manner in which Mr. Lowden has done his duty as governor and even more impressed by his robust and unflinching Americanism and his resolution to win the war and to put it through at all costs."

WORD FROM HOME BORNE TO FRONT BY ROSENWALD

Governors Write of Love and Hope in Cheery Notes.

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable. [Copyright: 1918.]

PARIS, Aug. 26.—Julius Rosenwald is in France as a representative of the American war department with a commission probably unprecedented in warfare.

Wearing the uniform of an American officer, but without title or rank, he is to go among the soldiers, not to give them material things or routine diversions or oratory, but to talk, man to man, about the conditions at home, about the vocational opportunities that await them when they return, and to assure them of American support and sympathy.

The best official explanation of this work is contained in these extracts in the letter from Secretary of War Baker.

"My Dear Mr. Rosenwald: I want you to go to France, move around among the American troops, and avail yourself of every opportunity to address the boys on the conditions at home."

"Your special opportunity for usefulness to them will be to take a message from home pointing out how the country appreciates the services they are rendering, and how great the opportunity will be for them to build up business and professional careers at home when once the menace of militarism has been removed from the world."

Rosenwald's letter follows:

lians, in the middle of the night and during a driving rainstorm, attacked it. A lone field gun from the rear of the town threatened to do some damage until a daring group circled around and crept upon it from the rear and hurried themselves on the gunners, killing them.

Then, with the assistance of tanks Cappy was cleared of the live machine gunners and the Australians pressed on. About the same time Simeon, almost across the river from Cappy, fell with the same result.

Advance on Combles.

To the north British patrols are now operating with more freedom. Combles, an important position south of Bapaume, has been gradually encircled by the British and the town, through which many roads which the Germans must use, is under a hot fire.

Combles also is a logical point for the concentration of troops, and undoubtedly heavy damage has been inflicted upon men and material here.

It is an interesting feature of the battle that the Mametz wood, which has been taken in past, was attacked and captured by the same units of Welsh troops which attacked the position in July, 1915.

The attack south of the Scarpe was delivered in cooperation with tanks. These steel monsters rolled through the rain and shot their way through the German first lines almost before the Germans realized that they were being attacked.

MONCHY VITAL POINT,

BY H. W. NEVINSON,
Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
(Copyright 1918.)

WAR CORRESPONDENTS HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, AUG. 26.—The British advance—Painful and steady as the advance along the whole line of the two armies has been, all other news is thrown into the background for the day by the fact that the Canadians and other fine British troops captured Monchy le Preux, five miles east and a little south of Arras, upon the Cambrai road.

This position was famous in the earlier years of the war, standing as it does right on the top of the old Hindenburg line and marking our extreme advance in that direction. Its importance as commanding not only the valley of the Scarpe, but the Coude and Seneffe streams, hardly can be overstated.

Its capture took place without strong opposition or great loss.

CROSS Hindenburg Line.

The northern point of the British advance hitherto was Neuville Vauclus, about four miles southwest from Monchy and the same distance south of Arras. This place itself is well across the head of the original Hindenburg line and the British now hold it securely. Croisilles this morning was still in the enemy's hands and his shells were falling at random over the grassy ridges.

Over the top of that ridge, which just concealed the village, British gun batteries were awaiting in the occasional showers. From the village and from behind the Hindenburg line the Germans were evidently endeavoring to check any new attacks upon Croisilles.

At the right the ruins of St. Leger are occupied by the British, as well as Morby about a mile and a half farther south.

A little west and south of Morby, upon the road from Arras to Bapaume, stand the villages of Behagnies and Sainghin; both British now, though only after serious fighting.

Bapaume itself is reported to lie empty, but the British make no unnecessary haste about entering, as the place is of little military value at the moment. The British line passes just between Bapaume and its suburb of Avesnes, but the town is virtually in German hands. Most of Bapaume the hill inclines slightly west and apparently includes Martigny and Pioniers.

FOCH'S STRATEGY TOLD

Chicago Tribune-New York Times Cable.
(Copyright 1918.)

PARIS, Aug. 26.—"Two fine days for the Allies," summed up the opinion of Paris this morning on the progress in which the armies of Gen. Byng and Rawlinson are taking their revenge for the Hindenburg line retreat last year, and especially for the losses the enemy caused them by his tremendous drive against Amiens last March.

The development of the battle so far indicates that this is what Foch is aiming at.

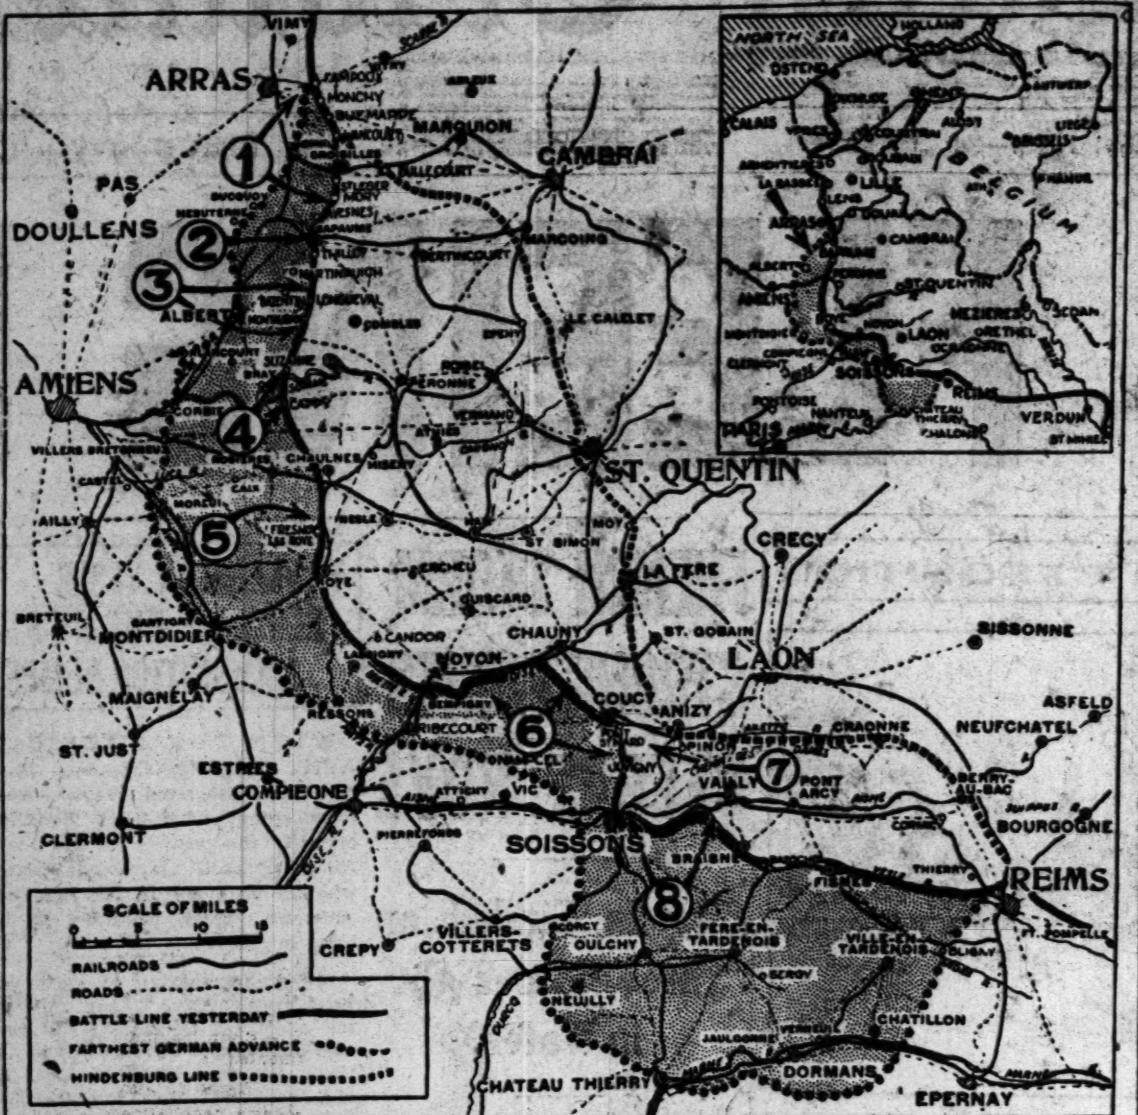

Ludendorff's method of defense has been to mass his men in depth to meet the various allied attacks. Foch by increasing the rapidly lengthening battle front, has forced the German troops to be thrown successively into sector after sector. On the principle that a hedge is much easier to cross than a forest, Foch, with each successive prolongation of the battle front, is steadily driving the German forces into a hedge.

When the enemy has been forced to use up all his forces to build a hedge, and the process is now well advanced, Foch's moment for the great general offensive will have come.

Gen. Haig Commended.

Haig's beautifully articulated maneuver, as it is termed here, is exactly similar to that which freed Montdidier, further south. Unqualified praise is bestowed by the French experts on the

POOR GERMANY! WAIL OF LETTERS ON HUN DEAD AND PRISONERS

WITH THE BRITISH ARMY IN FRANCE, AUG. 26.—Many letters taken from prisoners and dead Germans indicate that hopeless despair is beginning to prevail on the German side of the line.

A letter written home by a German who was stationed in a town which has been captured said: "The war has been lost for some time, only those up high are failing to admit it."

The letter added: "O, poor Germany! Our army is dead at the front now, and nothing else remains."

Another letter said, "This cannot last much longer," while still another German wrote: "Our losses greatly exceed all the drafts. Germany is sure to lose very soon."

It is a fact that many letters taken from prisoners, whether written by them to be posted home or received by them from civilians in the interior of Germany, are in the same vein. One German in Berlin chided his brother at the front about making rapid progress to the rear. He then predicted that the war was surely coming to an end, and that, with the allies then making an economic war, Germany would be ruined.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 27.—Six members of the crew are believed to have been drowned or killed by the torpedo explosion, and nine members of the naval armed guard are still missing as the result of the sinking of the fishing schooner Lake Eden in foreign waters Aug. 21.

A report to the navy department today names the following believed to have been drowned or killed:

George Bruce, master; C. Craft, second engineer; F. Derham, fourth engineer; C. Mallor, boatswain; A. Martin and Muller, sailors and ratings not given.

The member of the naval guard not named for an account is listed as Hooten, gunner, of Laurel Hill, Fla.

VOTE ON DRAFT TODAY DESPITE STRIKE CLAUSE

Senators Agree on 4 P.M.
Ballot, but Argue
About Labor.

(BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT)
Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—[Special]—The senate today entered into a unanimous consent agreement to vote not later than 4 o'clock tomorrow on the administration man power bill making the draft age limits 18 to 45 years.

All amendments to prevent the drafting of young men under 21 years of age or to compel the war department to classify them for the last call are doomed to defeat, it is believed. The only important amendment at all likely to be adopted is the anti-strike provision, which the house voted down Saturday.

Strike a Bone of Contention.

There is considerable doubt whether the anti-strike amendment will remain in the bill when it goes to the president for his signature. The house is firmly opposed to the amendment and it is regarded as unlikely that the senate would risk any considerable delay in putting the man power bill into operation by insisting upon the anti-strike amendment.

Debate in the senate today centered upon the anti-strike amendment.

Senator Cummins of Iowa strongly urged his colleagues making the anti-strike amendment inoperative if the strikers agree to submit their differences to the war labor board.

Still to Be Decided.

Confusion was created when Senator Thomas of Colorado sought to modify the amendment to compel strikers to continue work pending an adjustment by the board. Senator Cummins will attempt to present a solution of the muddle tomorrow.

Senator Cummins declared the amendment as recommended by the senate military affairs committee was contrary to the fundamental principles of the government because it transferred to private interests the power to impose undesirable conditions upon men employed on force them into military service. Senator Thomas replied that the omission of the anti-strike amendment would constitute a "serious defect" in the military program and invite the evil of idleness in industry.

Provide Free Education.

By a vote of 53 to 13 the senate agreed to the committee's amendment to take care of the education of young men under 21 years of age whose education is interrupted by the draft.

The amendment provides that any volunteer or drafted man under the age of 21 who serves in the army or navy shall be entitled at the conclusion of the war to receive an education at the expense of the government at approved educational institutions.

The amendment limits the period of such education to two years.

Opposition to the amendment was based on the contention that the education problem after the war was too far off and granted the administration too much vaguely defined latitude.

Defeat "Wines" Amendment.

The senate by a vote of 40 to 30 rejected an amendment offered by Senator Shields of Tennessee suspending civil service requirements with regard to wives and soldiers and sailors who apply for government employment during the war. Southern senators almost without exception voted for the amendment.

"Adopt this amendment and you might as well entitle the bill 'An act to encourage the marriage of women to soldiers and sailors,'" said Senator Thomas.

The senate adopted, without a roll call, an amendment offered by Senator Hoke Smith of Georgia, requiring the quartermaster's corps to furnish uniforms and equipment to officers at cost. The amendment is similar to one previously offered by Senator Jones of Washington, and adopted by the senate but thrown out by the house.

BY AUSTRIANS

PARIS, Aug. 26.—The war office reported tonight, referring to operations in the east, says:

"There was increased artillery action in the region of Lake Doiran, on both banks of the Vardar, and in the neighborhood of Humka."

"In Albania the Austrians on two different occasions attacked the Franco-Italian positions near the confluence of the Devolla and Tomorica rivers. Our troops repulsed these attacks, then in conformity with orders withdrew slightly on the left wing in order to maintain liaison with the Italian troops."

"British aviators bombed enemy villages in the region of Demir-Hissar. A Serbian aviator brought down an enemy machine in the region of Dobropolje."

Austrians claim victory.

VIENNA, Aug. 26.—The official communication from the Austrian war office today says:

"Our attack is progressing successfully in Albania. After a brief struggle yesterday, Italian bridge head positions north of Feleci were taken. During the assault which followed, our troops crossed the Semeni. We also made progress near Berat and in the Melave mountains."

"The bombing attacks of our airmen against Avlona are continuing."

JULY 1, 1919, IS SET TO MAKE
U. S. BONE DRY
*Agreement on Date Is Reported Reached
by Both Factions.*

Washington, D. C., Aug. 26.—Nation wide "bone dry" prohibition, effective July 1, 1919, and continuing during the war, at least, loomed today as a strong probability through compromise negotiations in congress.

An agreement for passage of legislation to stop sales of all intoxicating beverages on that date, leaders of both wet and dry factions in the senate and house, seemed to be in sight. President Wilson was represented as not opposing the legislation and senators believed the house would accept the proposal under negotiation. A definite "gentlemen's agreement" in the senate is expected within a few days.

Under Unanimous Consent.

The war-time prohibition bill pending in the senate came up for consideration today under the unanimous consent agreement made several weeks ago giving it right of way until disposed of, but was temporarily displaced while the senate proceeded with the man power bill. Then leaders supporting and fighting the prohibition legislation proceeded with corridor and cloak room discussions on the compromise.

As it now stands the bill would stop the sale of intoxicants on July 1. At President Wilson's suggestion, according to Senator Shepard of Texas, a prohibition advocate, postponement of the date was agreed to by spokesmen of both factions. The president, it was stated, believes additional time should be given for financial and other adjustments.

Agree to July 1.

In today's negotiations most of the prohibition advocates were agreeable to fixing July 1 as the date. They first insisted that it should be April 1, but a majority were said to have consented to the later date. Opponents of the legislation were declared to be convinced that it cannot be defeated, and to be satisfied with the proposed extension of time.

Former conclusion of an agreement is expected to pave the way for passage of the bill by the senate late this week or early next week.

CALAMITY FOR U.S. IF MAYOR WINS—TEDDY

Urges Illinois to Pick 100 Per Cent American for the Senate.

replied, "to the statement I gave to the chairman of the National Security League, which was published Sunday in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, in which I said: 'No man should be elected to congress on any ticket unless he is 100 per cent American and unless he believes in fighting the war with all possible energy and speed, without any thought of a complete and overwhelming victory.' Nor should he be elected unless he will stand for the kind of peace which will mean not only liberty for ourselves but for all other well behaved people; and this means the break-up of both the Austrian and Turkish empires."

"Finally he should be a man who can be trusted to make good his words by doing what he says, and not by possibly suspicion of his having shirked his duty or having permitted his own kinsfolk to shirk their duty or having incited others to shirk their duty about going to war. It is the fighting men at the front who really count in this contest, and no man is fit to represent them at home who does not show by his acts that he himself would, if he could, be over there with them, that he would be glad and willing to have his sons among them, and that he will not, directly or indirectly, encourage any human being to shirk his duty."

Thompson's Election a Calamity.

"I issued that statement because I meant it," he said.

"In most local contests I cannot take sides for or against any individual because either it is not a national matter or because I do not know all the facts."

"But Mayor Thompson's speeches and actions as mayor of the great city of Chicago during the eighteen months since we broke off relations and then went to war with Germany have been such that his election to the Senate would be calamitous from the standpoint of Americanism and patriotism while this country is engaged in a foreign war, and would be misinterpreted both at home and abroad, and would give satisfaction to Germany and satisfaction to the pro-German element here."

"Therefore I earnestly hope that the farsighted, patriotic citizens of Illinois will rouse themselves to the gravity of the situation and will get behind some one candidate of the 100 per cent American party so that a led minority may not secure a triumph which would be hailed with joy and misinterpreted to the detriment of America by disloyal people here and our enemies abroad."

Sensor C. F. Buck's Statement.

Sensor C. F. Buck, manager of the McCormick campaign, issued this statement tonight:

"Medill McCormick is the candidate for United States senator upon whom the Republican voters of Illinois must unite in order to give to the party a 100 per cent American candidate at the election in November. If this was not evident to some before it has been demonstrated clearly these last ten days."

The McCormick statement issued here this evening places the responsibility squarely upon the shoulders of the voters of the state. They must awaken to the situation now rather than after Sept. 11."

Shows McCormick's Organization.

"No candidate for United States senator can be nominated in this primary without organized support."

"Mayor Thompson, under the guidance of Fred Lundin, has succeeded in bringing together all the elements of which the campaign offices and promises appeal. Medill McCormick is the only other candidate in whose support affective organized forces have been marshaled to oppose those of the mayor."

"The McCormick organization now reaches into practically every voting precinct of the state. The voters are with him and the leaders here assembled today are unanimously agreed that he is the candidate about whom to rally the loyal Republican voters of the state."

B. H. Miller's Statement.

Benjamin H. Miller, campaign manager for Congressman Foss, said: "Congressman Foss is the one man that the Republicans should unite upon. He is a 100 per cent American and he comes within the requirement mentioned."

"The National Security League recently placed him on the roll of honor as the man who had voted right on eight principal preparedness and war measures which they consider the test for true Americanism."

"All Republicans recognize his service to the party, his ability, and his conservative statesmanship."

GREAT THROB GIVES HONOR TO BIRTH OF STATE

Thousands Join in Pageant Which Is Held in Springfield.

[BY A STAFF CORRESPONDENT.]
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 26.—[Special.]—One hundred thousand persons—probably the greatest crowd that ever has gathered in Illinois—struggled to hear Col. Theodore Roosevelt deliver an address at the centennial anniversary of the organization of the state.

At the state fair grounds, men and women battled at 9 o'clock this morning for places in the grandstand. Three companies of troops and the entire police force could not dislodge the early comers from the reserved seats.

Col. Roosevelt said tonight that he was profoundly moved by the inspiring scene, the tremendous interest that followed him during the two hours that he spoke, and the spontaneity and friendliness that marked the applause during his address.

"Illinois is 100 per cent loyal. That was the finest audience that I have addressed in many years," the colonel said.

Present Masque of Illinois.

The closing feature of the celebration came tonight when "The Masque of Illinois," by Wallace Rice of Chicago, which tells the story of 100 years of state history, was presented at the Coliseum. There were 1,000 persons in the cast.

Col. Roosevelt was a guest of Gov. and Mrs. Lowden. State officials and their wives, members of the general assembly, and members of the state centennial commission were in attendance.

Miss Florence Lowden, daughter of the governor, appeared as "Illinois." The "masque" closed with the singing of the "Star Spangled Banner" by the entire attendance.

The procession of nations was put in by the members of the Masonic order. Members of the cast came from all parts of the state and the costumes were made especially for the occasion.

Plan to Aid Victory.

In his speech Col. Roosevelt said: "The two great needs of the moment are to insist upon thoroughgoing and absolute Americanism throughout this land, and to speed up the war; and secondarily to those needs come the needs of beginning even now to make ready, to prepare for the tasks that are to come after the war, the task of preparing so that never again shall war find us helpless, and the task of preparing for the social and industrial problems which this earth-shaking conflict of giants will leave in its ruinous wake."

To insist upon thoroughgoing, 100 per cent Americanism among all our people is merely another way of saying that we insist upon being a nation proud of our national past and confident of our future as the greatest of the nations of mankind; for if we permit the moment the pacifists and internationalists and neutrals will not be noisy. But let our people beware of them as soon as the peace negotiations begin and from that time onward. They have worked together in the past and they will work together in the future, the pro-Germans furnishing the most powerful and most sinister element of the combination while the pacifists and the internationalists prance in the foreground and furnish the rhetoric.

Both the pacifists, they are the enemies of righteousness. Don't trust the internationalists; they are the enemies of nationalism and Americanism. Both of these groups appeal to all weaklings, illusionists, materialists, lukewarm Americans, and faddists of all the types that vitiate nationalism."

When Peace Comes.

On the terms of peace the colonel said:

"When peace comes let us accept any reasonable proposal, whether calling for a league of nations or for any other machinery which we can in good faith act upon which does really offer a chance for lasting peace."

"We must be prepared to meet a score of different nationalities each speaking a different language and each paying its real soul homage to some national ideal overseas, we shall not be a nation at all but merely a polyglot boarding house; and nobody feels much loyalty to a polyglot boarding house, or is proud to belong to it."

Are American Nationalists.

"We are not internationalists. We are American nationalists. We intend to do justice to all other nations. But in the last four years the professed internationalists, like the profound pacifists, have played the game of German autocracy, the game of the militaristic and capitalistic tyranny which now absolutely rules the Prussianized Germany of the Hohen Hohenzollerns."

"Professional internationalism stands towards patriotism exactly as free love stands toward a clean and honorable and duty-performing family life. And American pacifism has been the tool and ally of German militarism, and has represented, and always will represent, deep disloyalty to our beloved country."

Mr. Roosevelt said that many persons of German descent in this country have proved themselves 100 per cent American just as well as the Ameri-

"GIT THAR FUSTEST WITH THE MOSTEST MEN."

The house of representatives put aside the chairman of the committee on military affairs, Mr. Dent of Alabama, and passed the man power bill taking the available military strength of the nation, making the ages for the draft from 18 to 45 and declining to waste time over the sentimental nonsense of McKenzie of Illinois, supported by Dent.

McKenzie has a pate added by sentimentalism and would have amended the bill to prevent the drafting of men under 20. Dent supported him and would have had the bill returned to committee with instructions to incorporate this amendment in it. The house refused to do so and passed the bill as the war department wants it.

These manifestations of civilian ignorance, obstinacy, and sentimentality—such as McKenzie's and Dent's—may be unavoidable in a democracy, but they must be dealt with in the fashion in which the house finally did deal in this specific case.

The senate, in which more sanity is supposed to dwell, is showing signs of recalcitrancy but will yield. The situation would be too outrageous if rationality did not prevail, if commonly understood facts could not assert themselves, if the war department counsels and pleadings were of no avail.

The end of the war is being determined by this legislation in congress. We know how it will end. What congress is determining is when it will end, whether with a maximum or minimum of waste and suffering, death and loss.

To end it quickly the United States will draw quickly upon its whole power. That will save waste and prevent loss. It will save men now in France and men who are to go to France. It will put the whole strength of the nation into the blow which will finish Germany and it will make the end come as quickly as possible.

The sentimentalists were hanging on to the arm which was to deliver the blow, checking it and taking its power away from it, a hideous thing to do when the essential element in question is that of human lives.

Congress will discard this sentimentality and the American army will be given the power to hit with all the strength of the nation. That will hurt the Germans the most and do it the quickest, and it will save our men.

RELYING ON LIES.

The campaign of Big Bill is the most extreme case of demagoguery in Chicago history. His appeals to ignorant prejudice, to class feeling, to vague suspicion, to small mindedness, and petty rancor are more barefaced and unblushing than any political record in local knowledge has shown. Big Bill and his backers are surpassing themselves and it will be an interesting thing to see how far such tactics will carry them.

The resort to exposed falsehoods is perhaps the most impudent feature of this campaign. Big Bill and his advisers evidently are banking on the short memory of voters. Among these the most flagrant of their campaign lies resounds the exploded charge of Mr. Victor F. Lawson's alleged tax dodging in 1911. The facts established in 1912 when Bill first made the accusation are simply that Mr. Lawson through an error of the assessor's office had paid too much taxes the year before and when this was disclosed the overpayment was deducted from the taxes assessed against him for the year 1911. The overpayment had been so large that the sum paid for 1911 was only $17.32 and a receipt for this sum was photographed for Big Bill, who is still using it to show that Mr. Lawson dodged taxes in that year.

Of course, Big Bill realizes that he is falsifying when he does this and he is "bearing false witness against his neighbor." He knows that among all honorable men who know the truth such tactics brand him as unfit for any public trust. But his campaign has been organized on the theory that a safe majority of voters are neither intelligent nor fair minded. We believe Big Bill and his cynical advisers will get a lesson in September.

TRAINING FOR MEN IN THE DRAFT.

In cooperation with the war department, the National Security League is planning to give training and instruction to all men registered for the draft. This training will be entirely voluntary, but it will be conducted under the supervision of the local draft boards. Its purpose is, of course, to give registrants some preliminary instruction in military drill before they are called to camp.

It is clear that in raising a large army the period of training must necessarily be only too brief, and any method which serves to extend that training or to provide rudimentary drill in advance will be of assistance. The men who enter these voluntary corps will, of course, immensely improve their opportunities of later becoming noncommissioned officers.

The National Security league's plans ought to receive wide support.

LEWIS IN THE DEEP PURPLE.

Our droll Senator Lewis is most droll when he tiptoes to the closets of the mighty, with nobody looking, takes down a purple robe, and scampers away with it. How our droll James Hamilton does love a purple robe!

His ecstasy, when he can get one on, holding up the skirts and trying to keep the shoulders from slipping off him, thus enveloped, suffocated, lost, or at the best with his physical presence within the purple folds merely intimates, is a pure sublimity of human emotion.

A Washington dispatch says that the mysterious mission of Senator Lewis to France came up for discussion in the senate and that Senator Thomas of Colorado said that "the assumption that the senator from Illinois is the alleged representative of the American government is gratuitous and unauthorized."

The gratuitous and unauthorized appearances of Mr. Lewis are as frequent as his opportunities of making them. Some day President Wilson will make a pair of trousers. We suggest that Senator Lewis be locked up. The chances are he will have them. He will think that they make him Mr. Wilson's alter ego. Possibly he has a pair of them on now.

We knew our bird. We knew when he went to France he carried the American eagle perched on his wrist and would represent in all quarters the whole majesty of the American people.

We never have been indifferent to the elements of mischief in the drollery of this august senator. His impersonations are as good as those of Elsie Janis, who also is delighting the soldiers, but his are dangerous.

This bird is a parrot and talks too much. When he can waddle around in the president's pants or in a purple robe he talks with authority and sometimes is accepted as having authority to talk. The possibility of such irresponsibility are dismaying to contemplate.

It is a real achievement for him to project a purely gratuitous and unauthorized appearance in France conspicuously against the horizon of war.

Some day he will pin a peacock's feather on himself and break his neck admiring it.

WHERE POLITICS OUGHT TO BE ADJOURNED.

The reported protest of the United States Chamber of Commerce against certain activities of the federal trade commission is only surprising in that it should be postponed so long. There is perhaps no clearer evidence of the desire of men of affairs to "stand by the government" than their comparative acquiescence in the sensational methods and unwarranted attacks of the trade commission. We may question the good judgment of the patriotism which is thus exploited, but we cannot question its sacrificial quality.

Business men now seem to realize that an effective protest ought to be made. The commission had had plenty of time to establish their record, and it is a record which in times of peace would merit sufficient condemnation but which in this emergency is little short of scandalous.

It is almost a commonplace to say that a commission of this character ought not, directly or indirectly, to mix in politics; the very nature of its functions, if they are to be performed impartially and for the general good, must preclude any political admixture. Yet we have recently observed two of the five commissioners running for office, not to speak of the chief counsel of the commission, who has likewise sought to satisfy his political ambitions. It is even rumored that a third member of the board may enter the political lists.

Without knowing any other facts about the commission or its work, the average man would be suspicious of its fairness and moral integrity. He would rightly presume that such a commission would be more inclined to be influenced by political considerations than by impartial, constructive motives. It is even rumored that a third member of the board may enter the political lists.

The commission has not acted differently from what might be expected under such circumstances. The investigation of the packers might be cited, for one illustration, and the recent report on profiteering might be cited for another—these among a great many like manifestations of a political board operating for political purposes.

We need not deny that the commission has uncovered many grave abuses; we can even suppose that in certain cases it has done genuine public service. But the essential complaint is that the commission has worked primarily with political purposes in view; if there were two ways of accomplishing a given result the commission was sure to choose the one that would yield the maximum of political effect. And it has not hesitated to resort to the most flagrant distortion and misrepresentation to foster its objects.

FOOD FOR OUR ALLIES.

In supplying our allies with foodstuffs there is one factor, emphasized by Mr. Hoover upon his return the other day, which ought not to be overlooked. It is that coal will be much scarcer in Europe this year than last and, therefore, the populations of the allied countries will require at least an adequate supply of bread, fats, and sugar if they are to maintain their health. There will be little difficulty, it seems, in furnishing them sufficient cereals, but with fats and sugar the case is somewhat different.

The general principle announced by Mr. Hoover with respect to the bread supply ought to be accepted by Americans as applicable to other foodstuffs as well. "We have decided to mix 20 per cent of other grains with wheat flour in all the countries fighting Germany," Mr. Hoover said. "We cannot ask for better bread than France, and we propose the American people should maintain a common standard of bread with the people of our allies."

Owing to the difficulties of transport we shall probably continue to have a more abundant supply of foodstuffs than any of our allies, but we must be prepared, if we have the common cause at heart, at all times to retreat to the full extent requested by our food administration. Sugar ration may seem burdensome, but even now we are permitted more sugar than our allies. Mr. Hoover informs us it is a shortage that cannot be helped because we cannot afford to divert ships to fetch us sweets from the East Indies. There may be other shortages, and for like reasons, but the essential thing is victory and not a groaning dinner table or even a full stomach.

NEXT YEAR'S LABOR PROBLEM.

(From the Prairie Farmer.)

There is a tendency to think that because we have solved the farm labor problem with little trouble this year, we will not have any particular difficulty in 1919. This is a dangerous state of mind, particularly on the part of public officials who are handling the farm labor problem.

The weather has been kind to us this year, and has been a big factor in enabling us to get our work done with a minimum amount of help. We cannot plan as favorable a season next year.

The number of boys available is likely to be smaller instead of larger. The high wages offered by the industries and the lowering of the draft age will cut into the number of boys available for farm work.

The draft will take thousands of additional men from the farm between now and next spring, for the supply of men for the army comes ahead of everything else. It is likely to be harder to get emergency farm help, for the number of men in the cities is constantly growing smaller in proportion to the work to be done.

We will meet the labor shortage in some way, and maintain our enviable record of food production, but to do this, much thought and planning is necessary, and it is none too soon to begin.

YANKS SWARMING INTO FRANCE WAR MIRACLE

The following story is a pen picture of the scenes as American troops arrive in France:

AT AN AMERICAN PORT IN WESTERN FRANCE, July 27.—[Correspondence of the Associated Press]—Long lines of khaki-clad men, just debarked from an American transport and now on the way to their first camp packed the street from curb to curb and stretched away for miles. It was four miles and uphills to the nearest town, one of the largest camps in the world and capable of caring for the population of a metropolitan city.

Hour after hour, from 6 this morning until late this afternoon, the steady tramp of marching thousands had been going on, for this steady stream is the army of 35,000 just arrived on thirteen American transports, the men from the debarkation from ship to camp within twelve hours.

With Maj. X, the engineer officer of the camp, we skirted alongside this moving stream, from the landing to the camp, and had an opportunity of seeing each stage in the huge movement up to the time the tired marchers pitched their shelter tents on the soaked grounds and crawled inside to sleep. Stirring as it was to see these men come to swell the more than a million men in the American ranks, yet there was a grimness and grayness to the scene suggesting the stern reality of war.

A steady downpour swept across the ranks, and the men were dripping as they trudged through the mud. They were at route step, without the regularity of parading troops, and each man carried, besides his rifle, all his belongings on his back; bedding, tent, blankets, clothing, shoes, and all the miscellaneous equipment of a soldier headed for the front.

Their last camp was in the well equipped town of the United States, where they slept on cots and had a semblance of modern comfort. Now they were on the war-swept soil of France and had seen the last of cots and comforts. It was their first glimpse of real war conditions, and any one who says it is cheerful shuts his eyes to the grimness of war.

They last camp was in the well equipped town of the United States, where they slept on cots and had a semblance of modern comfort. Now they were on the war-swept soil of France and had seen the last of cots and comforts. It was their first glimpse of real war conditions, and any one who says it is cheerful shuts his eyes to the grimness of war.

It is almost a commonplace to say that a commission of this character ought not, directly or indirectly, to mix in politics; the very nature of its functions, if they are to be performed impartially and for the general good, must preclude any political admixture. Yet we have recently observed two of the five commissioners running for office, not to speak of the chief counsel of the commission, who has likewise sought to satisfy his political ambitions. It is even rumored that a third member of the board may enter the political lists.

The major was well qualified to explain the magnitude of the work, for he had been chief construction engineer of the New York subway system, had planned and built a large part of the system, and had made the population figures on which the subway construction was based.

"To get an idea of the camp," he said, "compare it with Central Park. We have 2,500 acres here; Central Park has 800 acres. Why, the entire area is only 41,000 acres."

On both sides of the road, for miles after mile, as we sped along in an army car a city of tents was rising and there was the hum and bustle of camp on a vast scale. This morning all the ground had been studded field from the newly cut wheat and barley. But now every available foot was being laid off by the army engineers, working with tripod and instruments like a party of surveyors. Tentied streets and avenues, headquarters and mess halls, hospital tents and vast sheltered areas supplies and artillery and horses were rising in the fields and spreading for forty square miles over this huge enclosure.

"We never take a field of growing grain," the major said, "but as fast as the grain is cut we take over the fields, and with harvest time well advanced this entire farming section will soon be turned into an American camp."

In one of the fields where we stopped to see the two battalions of 800 men each just marched in and were preparing to pitch their tents. The great stretch of plowed ground, just cleared of grain, was still soaked, and the storm had set in for the night.

The men stood ready, each with a half of a shelter tent, to drive the stakes and lash it against the elements and then crawl in.

It seemed an endless wait for all the formalities of laying out the camp with engineering exactness, yet all of this was essential to the smooth running of such a large concern.

At last the stakes were driven and soon the great field was dotted with thousands of little black mounds, about as high as a man's shoulder, each a "pig tent" by the soldiers, probably because they look like doghouses. Under the tent there is just room for two lying down, and if the ground is soaked as it is tonight the rubber poncho keeps out some of the water and kindly nature and the iron youth must do the rest.

This was only one typical camp of the hundreds lining the roads for miles in this vast reception camp. Field kitchens and water carts were wheeling up to all the camps as the tents went up. Filtered water is brought in hoseheads and each command has its apportioned lot of hoseheads. Later on there will be a splendid system of water mains for the whole camp. But here are the men, and a water system not installed in a day. So instead of waiting for twelve inches the primitive hosehead is filling the gap.

Each man carries his emergency ration for three days. Some of them were nibbling it before climbing into their pup tents, but most of them waited for the smoking field kitchen to get into action with its cooks, serving out hot coffee and hot soup and meat. The item of feeding an army with precision is in itself a gigantic task.

"We served 1,800,000 meals last month," Maj. X said, "or $90,000 army rations of three meals to the man."

And besides all the feeding and watering and sanitation there is the immense "paper work" of such an organization. There are 128 separate organizations in the 36,000 men just arrived. Each of the 128 must be sorted out and brought together, and every individual soldier of the 36,000 must be identified and accounted for, so as to guard against losses, and then each organization and man must have his detail to one of the sectors of the fighting front. This "paper work," as it is called, is prodigious, and, like everything military, it must be done with absolute precision. And the paper work calls for paper, which is hard to get.

"When headquarters called for a map of the camp the other day," said the major, "they got it all right, on the only paper which could be found, which was brown wrapping paper. But it was a good map."

When taps sounded every man of this 36,000 was under canvas, although this morning every man had been afloat. It was the record accomplishment in landing, for while one body of arrivals had been large, 42,000, the landing had taken the best part of two days, whereas this huge transfer was in the daylight hours of the first day.

"And right on top of it," said the general tonight, "our ship is arriving with 12,000 more men, and then another flotilla of transports and then another."

Thus this gigantic influx of armed men goes on steadily and unceasingly on record time, with little or no confusion, each man and organization being cared for and accounted for as they move forward to the front, and all of the huge enterprise of docking, landing, transporting, and camping, with all their infinite details, created out of practically nothing within the last ten months.

Women in Wartime

BY LUCY CALHOUN.

The danger of using young people, particularly young girls, as solicitors on the streets for Red Cross, war savings, and Liberty loan drives is being impressed upon women who are to work for the fourth Liberty loan by a letter sent at all chairman of women's Liberty loan committees in the Seventh Federal Reserve district. The letter is signed by Miss Grace Barron, director for women in the district, and reads:

"Early in our work the national women's Liberty loan committee realized the evils that might arise from choosing workers promiscuously and issued a ruling to that effect:

"Whereas, the national woman's Liberty loan committee has become solicitous about the indiscriminate use of the school children, particularly the little girls, in all forms of war work, and

"Whereas the members of the national woman's Liberty loan committees have been a part of all organized movements for the social protection of little children, especially girls, for years:

"Therefore be it resolved that we are opposed to the use of little girls to sell bonds to individual subscribers unless they are under the care and personal protection of a woman vested with this power."

"Whereas you see that in your community workers are chosen with great care and discrimination and that they are truly worthy of the name 'Liberty loan workers'?"

Another Protest Received.

Miss Dixon is in receipt of a bulletin from L. B. Franklin, director of the war loan organization in Washington in which he states that a communication has been received by him from the chief of the children's bureau, voicing a similar protest.

"I think that children have been used to a larger extent in Red Cross work than in any other campaign that they have in the Liberty loan," he says "but I quite agree with the department of labor that it is inadvisable to have solicitations carried on by young children and think it would be wise for you to send out to your local committees some word of caution on this subject."

The o—es [deleted by censors; but soldiers will know what I mean] having departed from Evanston, and the populace of that suburb being now able to exercise in a more general way, the Evanston Woman's club has arranged a series of dances there for soldiers and sailors. The first one will be given tonight. On the Evanston hospital committee of the war camp community service are: Prof. J. A. James, Mrs. U. S. Grant, Mrs. William A. King, George Folsom, Lynn A. Williams, William Hudson Harter, Mrs. James A. Patten, Mrs. Henry Dawes, Mrs. E. J. Buffington, Mrs. William G. Gilmore, and Raymond G. Cook.

Box Picnic and Dance.

A box picnic and dance will be the first entertainment given in the new Khaki and Blue club in Grant Park. It is to be held Saturday evening. It is hoped that the pavilion will have a roof. Two thousand men will be entertained on that evening by the hostesses under the chairmanship of Mrs. James Keeley.

The Daughters of War Camp Community Service is the title of the new group of war workers—the young girls who help in the entertainment of the uniformed men at various dances and picnics. The motto is "We Are the Legion." "We Also Serve" and every young woman over 15 engaged regularly in some branch of the community service is eligible for membership. She is required to take a pledge "to treat every young man in the uniform of the United States as a brother in the service, to honor him for his gift to his country, and not to lower his ideal of womanhood by frivolous or insincere conduct."

Lake Forest Junk Campaign.

Lake Forest has organized for a house-to-house canvass in the Red Cross junk campaign. Mrs. Reuben Donnelly is general chairman with Mr. C. French Childs, chairman of the First ward, Mrs. Cornelius Tracy, bridge of the Second, and Mrs. William M. Chow of the Third. The time limit for the suburban towns in the drive has been extended to Sept. 15.

An appeal is made for more magazine covers suitable for decorating the utility page manufactured at the women's committee workshop, 305 Van Dyke building. The workshop is maintained to give employment to women part 40.

Children in Pageant.

Junior Drama league players will appear in a pageant and there will be a meet and entertainments meeting tomorrow on the municipal pier, under the auspices of the Drama League of Chicago. It is announced that more than 1,000 children have registered in the classes and many thousands of children entertained in the weekly programs.

Annuity Observed.

Julia Dent Grant tent No. 12, Daughters of Veterans of the Civil War, celebrated the centennial of Illinois as a state and also the anniversary of the birth of their president, Mrs. M. Katherine Compton, with a patriotic program in the Great Northern hotel yesterday afternoon.

A SHAMPOO WORTH TRYING

It is not necessary to shampoo your hair so frequently if it is entirely and properly cleaned each time by the use of a really good shampoo. The easiest to use and quickest drying shampoo that we can recommend to our readers is one that brings out all the natural beauty of the hair and can be enjoyed at very little expense by dissolving a small amount of Camphor, which can be obtained from any druggist's, in a cup of hot water. This makes a full cup of shampoo liquid, enough so it is easy to apply it to all the hair instead of just the top of the head. This, when rubbed into the scalp and onto every strand of hair, chemically dissolves all impurities. It is very soothing and cooling to both scalp and hair. After rinsing out the lather so created, you will find the scalp is fresh, clean and free from dandruff, while the hair dries quickly and evenly, developing a bright luster and a soft smoothness that makes it seem very heavy—adv.

BY MABEL M'ELLIOTT.
John Barrymore employs a number of the mirth provoking tactics of his namesake relative, Sidney Drew. He jams his nose down into the noble nose, grimaces and stumbles in much the Drew manner, but is perhaps most like him when, awaking to a wretched headache, he kicks an unoffending bookmaker out of bed. The audience yesterday greeted his antics with uninterrupted merriment.

"On the Quiet" concerns the fortunes of the usual wild youth who meets with the usual obstacles in attempting to marry the usual girl. The girl in this case is Lois Meredith, a pretty, kitchen person, and the obstacles tabulated as follows:

1. A stern brother.

2. Robert's fondness for looking on the wine.

With Robert's promise to reform, and his subsequent lofty desire to reform the rest of the world, we have comedy indeed. And the noisy party in his rooms, arranged by his ducal brother-in-law, completes the picture. It would make tiresome reading if I were to detail for you the windings of the story, though it is well told all the time where the loves pop up in the grotesques of driving suits. You may be amused by various things—by the kittens, or the chorus girls, or the sight of Robert plunging through the tonneau of the car. It is safe to say you will be amused.

Helen Greene, whom you ought to remember as the chilid elder sister of "Bab," plays a charmingly dressed and discontented duchess. Frank Belcher is the indispensable bookmaker, plump and, as the English say, price-right.

Relishing a little nonsense now and then, you may safely go to see "On the Quiet."

I think that word "brillite" in the recipe is a mistake. They should be more like dried pumpkin, and they are like it in odor when dried to the point where they will keep well after confectioning. That means that all the water is dried out of them. Throwing them at a temperature of 110 degrees raised gradually to 150 degrees, is given as from two and a half to three hours. But notice that they may be dried by air and good breeze out of doors as well as electric fan air. And do not forget to add a few minutes between boilings, but perhaps we can discover these things for ourselves.

The carrots left after making this coffee if left to be further hydrated may be cooked or used with dried peas or similar mixtures to season purées made of them. Shall we speak up for shropshire, a plow or special implement used in the home garden?

There are two classes of celery: Early or "self-blanching" and late or "green" celery. Both require more or less blanching, which is usually done by hillings up the soil against the plants from both sides.

Golden Self-Blanching and White Plume are of the early varieties, approaching maturity. They are not for winter storage and the patch should be divided now into portions for successive blanching that they may be used by the time the green or later varieties are ready.

Carrots are to be blanched to bring them to a proper degree of crisp whiteness, and we may now begin with the first portion of the earlies. If we blanch by "earthing up" we bank up from both sides, two inches at a time, at intervals of a few days, till only the tops or plumes protrude. In larger culture, a plow or special implement is used, while in the home garden a hoe does very well.

Instead of "earthing up" waterproof paper may be tied around the individual plants. And the simpler way is with boards of low-grade cheap lumber, placed on edge on both sides of each row, secured by stakes or by six-inch hooks or wire loops at the upper edges. They should be ten or twelve inches wide, of convenient length, with cleats nailed to the ends and middle to prevent splitting and warping. Only enough boards need be provided to blanch the portion to be used next, allowing two weeks for each location. Stored in a sheltered place, the boards will last for many years.

"I only haven't anything to say about the work over there," she told the other girls who crowded around her. "It is just the same thing now that everyone else is doing, canteen work of one sort or another. The girls are splendid at it and very much in earnest, of course, and I believe we have been able to help. No, I don't think I make any speeches here, if the girls will let me off. I'm just home to rest a bit, and then I'm going back."

Overseas Heroine

Home to Rest a Bit

Miss Ruth Josephine, a member of the gallant band of American girls doing service overseas with the Smith collection relief unit, has returned to Chicago for a brief period of rest. She will sail for France again in the early fall to resume her cantine work. Yesterday she dropped into the War Workers' lunchroom in the Tower building and was received with open arms by the girls.

She will be home for a week, and then will return to Paris for another month.

She is in excellent spirits and is looking forward to a restful vacation.

Mothers of Aviators Society Gets Reply on Pay for Air Cadets

An attempt is being made to get an appropriate sum for the education of the sons of the mothers of the Mothers of Aviators. The society recently protested to the war department against the reduction in the pay of the cadets, and following is the answer received from the department of military communications:

"With reference to the resolution of the Mothers of Aviators, a copy of which has been received at this office, I beg to inform you that the reduction in the pay of cadets, first from $100 to $75 and more recently from $75 to $35, is a question of law, and one that must be remedied if at all, by congress. An effort is to be made to secure a sufficient sum from the emergency fund for the purpose of covering the extra pay. But in the meantime the extra pay while at flying school is stopped. It is to be hoped that this matter will soon be placed on the former basis."

WANTS TO TELL OF INTEREST IN TRACTION DEAL

Doctor Named by Govier
Asks to Go Before
Grand Jury.

A new prospective volunteer grand jury witness on traction affairs appeared yesterday. Dr. W. C. Brinkerhoff, whose name was mentioned to the inquisitorial body by Ald. Sheldon W. Govier, wants a chance to tell the grand jury his version of their relationship in connection with the unification ordinance.

"I'd like to tell the grand jury my story," Dr. Brinkerhoff said. "I don't know what the alderman told that body, but I do know that some of the interviews he gave out, indicating they contained the facts he laid before the grand jury, are not the whole truth. There is a common expression that a half truth told is harder to explain than a lie."

Reflect on Others.

"There are insinuations in Ald. Govier's public statements about my interest in the unification ordinance that reflect not alone on me but on several high class members of the aldermanic body. I'd like to get an opportunity to clear up those insinuations. I did invite Mr. Govier to luncheons to discuss the traction ordinance and paid for the luncheons, and never paid for a dinner eaten by several men, one of whom was the alderman. I did not at any time ask the alderman to vote for the ordinance."

Interested in Extension.

Dr. Brinkerhoff's interest in the traction measure, he says, and aldermen who are members of the transportation committee, corroborate his statement, was in connection with the extension of the Eighty-seventh street surface car line from Stony Island avenue to Halsted street, a proposition which has been worked upon for three years by the Eighty-seventh Street Development association of which the physician is the treasurer.

Hayne Replies to Walkowiak.

State's Attorney Hayne yesterday replied to the letter of Ald. Stanley S. Walkowiak, in which the alderman asked that Walter L. Fisher, the city's special traction attorney, be invited to testify before the Cook county grand jury on the merits of the traction unification ordinance passed over the mayor's veto.

Mr. Hayne said he could not speak for the grand jury, but, speaking for himself, would take no exception to receiving suggestions from other public officials. He wrote that he thought Mr. Walkowiak and all other aldermen who voted for the "inferior measure" should begin to explain to their constituents.

CHICAGO'S CRACK BATTALION MAY COME TO PARADE

Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill., Aug. 26.—(Special.)—Chicago soldiers making up the crack First battalion of the Three Hundred and Forty-third infantry regiment redoubled their efforts on the drill fields today, when the word went around that the picked unit may go to Chicago for a Labor day parade.

Although no orders were received concerning the trip to Chicago, officers and men of the 7th company are eager to engage in a farewell demonstration.

A Canadian exposition at Toronto, in which the men will appear, begins Sept. 1 and continues through Sept. 10.

Lieut. Col. Catlin, commanding the depot brigade, today ordered the special training of 300 men in the military police unit which will act as a provost guard during the war exhibition in Chicago. Lieut. William Leonard, a veteran officer of the M. P. organization, will probably have command of the unit.

EXAMINER SHUTS GARY BANK; HOPE OF PAYING OUT

ROADHOUSES
SNEAK OFF LID:
HIGH JINKS ON

Deputy Sheriffs Gather
Evidence in Cicero District.

Too Much of the Deposits
Loaned, Reason Given for the Act.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 26.—[Special.]—The Northern State bank and its branch, totaling $884,400, closed its doors this afternoon by order of State Bank Examiner Mark A. Wilson, acting under instructions from State Auditor Otto L. Klaus, following an examination which it was disclosed "that the assets had been dissipated through numerous bank loans and because the present management was inefficient."

Announcement of the bank's condition created little excitement since it was followed simultaneously with a statement by the state auditor which held it was full in and that the first dividend would probably be paid within thirty days. To do this it may be necessary, however, to hold the stockholders under the double liability act.

To avoid a possible attack by depositors the police tonight placed armed guards in the interior and around the bank. Several men were made ready and police were placed at other banks in the city. There was no sign of a disturbance, however, and late tonight the city is quiet.

Organized Eight Years Ago.

The bank was organized about eight years ago by Sam J. Watson and a number of local men. Mr. Watson remained president until the time of his death. W. Fred D. Hunter, cashier, is city treasurer, and it was stated to-night that the city has approximately $10,000 deposit in the bank. Hunter has been cashier since it was organized.

Disclosures in Snell Case.

The Northern State bank recently caused the arrest of T. T. Snell, former president of the First National bank of this city, on the charge of putting up alleged worthless securities at the Northern State for a loan of $10,000. Last Saturday Snell's case was called for preliminary hearing and he was bound over to the Lake Superior court for trial.

Snell has no interest in the First National bank at this time and State Auditor Klaus today said all the other Gary banks, nine in number, are in prime condition.

Six years ago the Northern State bank erected one of the finest bank buildings in this part of the state. It is believed that the reason the bank has led to the examination by the state banking officials which resulted in the closing of the bank. Many Gary business men are among the depositors, but most of them expressed the belief that the bank will make good and resume business in a short time.

In a notice to the public issued late this afternoon State Auditor Klaus said there is a sufficient amount of assets, together with the stockholder's liability, to pay all depositors in full.

St. Louis Bank Closed.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 26.—The Union State bank, with deposits of $1,800,000, did not open for business today, and it was announced the bank was in the hands of State Bank Commissioners. Of its total deposits $732,442 were now due. Bank examiners began an investigation, a week ago.

President F. W. Wrieden of the bank said he did not think the depositors would lose anything and that the stockholders would not lose a great deal. Poor collateral and slow security were blamed for the bank's condition.

BANKRUPTCY Proceedings Began Against Company

A petition of involuntary bankruptcy was filed in the United States District Court yesterday against the United Engineering company, against whom the city filed suit a week ago to collect $11,000, alleged to be due for garbage tonnage.

According to Henry S. Blum, attorney for the Petitioners, the company of Louisville, Ky., a creditor, the company has liabilities amounting to $300,000. Its assets consist of a plant at Hamtramck, Mich., said to be worth $100,000, and several thousand acres of land near Portales, N. M., of uncertain value.

Joy Ride in Hearse Leads to Accident and Arrests

Three young men—Ferdinand Henry of 147 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street, George Lyons of 11523 South State street, and George Weigert of 27 West One Hundred and Fifteenth street—purposing a quiet ride, stole a white hearse from the garages of Kenneth Spearling of 135 East One Hundred and Fifteenth street early yesterday.

Later in the day the hearse was found wrecked in a ditch, as if testifying to the effectiveness of joy riding in a hearse, and the young men were arrested.

Alice Jarling, 5 years old, Pine and Cedar streets, Arlington Heights, was burned fatally yesterday while playing near a bonfire.

CHILDREN FIGHT GYPSY WOMEN STEALING GEMS

Lawyer's Daughters in Thrilling Battle, but Thieves Escape.

Country saloons in various parts of Cook county have been sneaking off the lid on Sundays for several weeks, gradually growing bolder, according to complaints that have been pouring in. Some of the complaints concerned the Cicero district.

Charles W. Peters, chief deputy sheriff, and a few of his deputies started out on Sunday to do a bit of investigating. They took a turn up the north sector of the Milwaukee avenue state road. They arrived after a riotous Saturday night, at which some of the places, including the House That Jack Built, had sold liquor after midnight—which is Sunday.

Guilty of Two Offenses.

In three road houses on the state road Mr. Peters and his crew offered since all three have recently received licenses by the county board, and therefore have no right to sell even on week days.

Mr. Peters procured warrants yesterday against Frank Hayes of 1907 Patterson avenue, ever see a pair of earringed, be-ribbed Romany damsels with tambourines there is going to be a thrilling chase.

The daughters are Vera, 12; Elizabeth, 10; Ruth, 14; and Maxine, 6. They were playing in the lawn yesterday. Mrs. Vera, Mrs. Eheim being away on an automobile trip, when Vera saw a slight commotion on the second floor of the house.

Catch Gypsies Looters.

She investigated. There being greater expedition than caution in her movements she ran plumb into two gypsies who were calmly looting the Eheim jewel cases.

Vera did not hesitate but sailed in with a vengeance. The Romany fist, however, was too powerful and Vera was thrust aside with a blow. Her sister brought Elizabeth, who likewise started battle. She, too, was sent sprawling.

Elude Pursuers.

In swift succession came Ruth and Maxine and they, like their sisters, found themselves overpowered. The gypsies ran from the house with the quartet in full pursuit and all shouting, "stop thief!" with a right good will.

After a block or two of the chase the gypsy girls eluded their pursuers. The police were informed and an investigation made which revealed that skeleton keys evidently had been employed to open the rear door of the house.

Uncle Sam on Guard.

Cicero, Lyons, Argo and all the sections have been picketed since Sunday selling for some weeks with impunity. But evidence has been obtained while the high jinx has been going on and it is reported that proofs that soldiers have bought may land some in the toils of Uncle Sam.

H. K. Gross, head of the Citizens' league, with assistant investigators, took a turn around some of the Sunday selling territory on Sunday and prepared small sheaves of testimony.

"When you will submit I will prosecute," said Macias Hoyne, state's attorney. Mr. Hoyne closed them up on Sundays last summer. Forces of law and order declare that the closing will be repeated.

"The law is going to be enforced," said Deputy Sheriff Peters, when seen last night. "These places must obey the law. The three road houses that were blind pigging, and for which warrants have been issued today, were brazen. We will stand for no such effrontery. They are going to be closed and closed tight."

PAM TO HEAR OF SOLID SIX
BLOW TO CENSUS

Judge Pam, who has the school census injunction case under advisement, will receive judicial notices today from Attorney F. S. Munro that the state's "solid six" board of education has filed its annual report with County Superintendent of Schools Edward J. Tolson. The board's action, Mr. Munro says, makes it impossible to use any 1918 census figures, should a school enumeration be taken this year.

Attorney Munro said he would either file an affidavit in court setting forth the annual report as made to the county superintendent or file an amended bill for his silent, Harry Scott, who is asking the court to enjoin the taking of a 1918 census on the grounds that it would be a waste of $60,000 of public funds as well as an illegal proceeding.

Judge Pam heard final arguments in the case last week and asked that the attorneys file briefs. The briefs will be ready for the attention of the judge this morning.

Assistant State's Attorney Henry Berg and his aids are classifying and arranging the school board records of the 1916 school census for the purpose of probing deeper into the charges of census padding in connection with the old enumeration.

Bricks were hurled through the windows of a loaded motor bus late last night at Randolph street and Michigan avenue by a couple of young men, who escaped by jumping over the fence.

Mrs. Louis Brook of 1602 Ashland avenue, Evanston, has a pretty fair idea who stole $65 ripe and green tomatoes from her war garden and also a number of picky cucumbers.

She was on a motorizing trip, she told the police yesterday, and discovered the vandalism on her return. The college Kun Pon attended is the Poy-Gon, located at On-Fun, and is said to have been practically cleaned out by the bandit.

Civic Bodies Advise Board.

In a letter sent to President Davis yesterday, seven Chicago organizations urged the board to appoint a committee of educators to advise the school trustees in the selection of a new superintendent of schools. More than twenty educators are named as material for such a commission.

The request was signed by C. M. Moderweller, chairman of the political action committee of the Union League club; Minna Ferrell Johnson, president of the Chicago Women's club; Mrs. Gladys Folger, wife of president of the Women's City club; Allen B. Pond, president of the Public Education association, and George H. Mead, president of the City club.

Most Important Duty.

"The most important single duty which the law places on the board of education is that of electing a superintendent of schools," the letter reads.

"Controversies which arise in the school system of late years make it imperative that the board of education proceed in the selection of a superintendent in such a way as to command for the new official and for the board itself the public confidence which is essential to a successful administration."

"The head of the Chicago school system should have as much special training and ability as the reponsible head of a railroad or other great corporation. There are very few persons in the country who are large enough for this great office. In order to find the proper person we recommend that your honorable body appoint a consulting commission made up of educational experts who can advise the board in its choice."

"Solid Six" Silent.

Leaders of the solid six would not state whether they will elect a superintendent tomorrow. It is probable that the election will be put over until the meeting following.

Because of the new school law many matters regarding the educational department will need eight votes of the panel, which have not yet superintended's nomination.

For that reason the election of a superintendent will be delayed no longer than the school board finds necessary, as the majority never has been able to muster more than seven votes on a controversial matter.

School will open before another meeting after tomorrow's is held.

Mrs. Ackerman stepped in the house to notify the police, and while she was doing so her visitor took a discreet departure.

"This is the second time that this has happened," said her husband yesterday.

"It seems to be the latest species of pro-German annoyance."

FREE MOVEMENT OF WHEAT AIDS EASIER MONEY

W. T. Fenton Suggests
Farmers Accept Bonds
for Their Crops.

Conditions are becoming more favorable to an easier money situation in the west and would work out improvement but for continued government demands.

The change is due to the free movement of wheat which is being noted by the country correspondents of Chicago banks. The out of town institutions, which one month ago were rather heavy borrowers of their reserve correspondents, are now asking for much less and report that farmers are finding transportation conditions favorable, while the fixed price for grain has removed the incentive to hold wheat for further advance. At a quotation averaging $2.26 a bushel the farmers, according to the banks, are willing to ship their grain. The proceeds of these sales are liquidating loans and in turn country banks are enabled to replenish their cash reserves.

Credit Should Be Enlarged.

The present is the beginning of the season when Chicago institutions should find their ability to grant credit enlarged. It would be so were it not considerably obligatory by the banks to purchase treasury certificates.

Concerning the position of the farmer in the general money situation W. T. Fenton, vice president of the National Bank of the Republic, said yesterday: "The farmer is being treated exceptionally well. He has received higher prices than ever previously recorded, and other farm products are at the top. The farmer is also being rather favored in the matter of the draft, and all things considered, I believe he should be willing to accept a good part of the pay for his produce in government bonds bearing 4 or 4% per cent interest. If the government is willing to regard his interests so considerately, he should be willing to liberally subscribe to government bond issues."

Bon Forgan for Delano Place.

It appears from an authoritative source that members of the federal reserve board at Washington are desirous of securing a state bank loan to go to the west to fill the vacuum made by retirement from the board of F. A. Delano of Chicago. The theory of the members of the reserve board is that the selection of a state banker would be due recognition to state institutions which have entered the system and might be helpful in inducing other state banks to align themselves with the nationals in the reserve system.

Jesse B. Forgan, returning yesterday from a vacation stay at Harbor Springs, was urged by his friends to accept an appointment as a member on the federal reserve board. Mr. Forgan refused to say what his attitude would be were the place formally offered to him. But friends gathered that his health and his desire to be relieved of some responsibilities would prevent his accepting an appointment.

Others Are Mentioned.

One local national banker who has been informed of the wishes of the reserve board said yesterday:

"Apart from the names of Chicago bankers who have been mentioned, I think well of Joseph E. Otis, vice president of the Central Trust company. The Central is the first state bank to join the federal reserve system. Since Charles H. Dill is president of the bank in France, and the management depends on Mr. Otis, we do not know that he would be able to accept the place if offered. But he is well fitted for the position."

Dividends Discontinued.

Advancing costs of materials and increases in wages, which have led to reduction in profits, have caused the Middle West Utilities company to discontinue all forms of dividend on the preferred stock. A few months ago the company dropped the cash distribution and substituted scrip. According to an announcement made yesterday the scrip dividend will now be discontinued. Samuel Insull, president of the company, in making public the action of the directors, issued the following statement to the stockholders:

"Public discussion indicates quite clearly that the normal tax on incomes will be considerably increased. While it is not altogether clear that the income-bearing certificates heretofore issued in lieu of cash dividends upon preferred stock will not be taxable as income to the board of directors, having due regard to the wishes of stockholders from whom they have heard, are prepared that it is to the best interest of the stockholders for the time being to defer the declaration of preferred dividends and allow such dividends to accumulate."

Making Executives of Women

THE most important war work that women can perform is to maintain and augment America's industrial man power, so that the nation will not suffer any decrease in its production or in its ability to meet its needs because of the withdrawal of millions of men for military service. Unskilled labor can be entered without special training, but the need of more intelligent and difficult work. Women who truly desire to serve should, therefore, endeavor to take up work which has heretofore been mainly confined to men, so that this work can be carried on when the men are called to leave. Women, Accountants, Private Secretaries, Executives, Department Heads, Factors, Managers, Correspondents, Bank Officials, and all means that they must train and train again.
